TUBERCULOSIS IN BARRE or, Miller Writes on a Local Situation-How to Meet It.

Mr. Editor: I have for some time

elt that something should be done to waken a more public interest concernng this dread disease tuberculosis, I take the opportunity while on my neation to present to you these few mes, trusting that they may be of some use in bringing about conditions which will lessen this trouble in our midst. During the year I have been in your fity in connection with the Emergency hospital. It has been my lot to examine large number of these cases, some he earlier and others in the more ad vanced stages. Barre, situated as it is, should not have so many of these lases. There is something wrong and I will endeavor to point out a few of these wrongs. The first thing I wish to bring to the public attention is the With Their Teeth and Nails After lust evil in our stonesheds. Nearly L. P. Austin sells stone cutters' everyone is aware of this, but there seems to be little or nothing done to emedy it. The breathing of this dust, ausing as it does an inflammatory con-ution of the lining membrane of the whole respiratory apparatus, weakens the resistance of these tissues and alows a ready entrance to the germs ausing consumption, pneumonia and the ike. This, I believe, is the chief factor up, as it is used in the stonesheds and other public places. Something should be done to discourage and prohibit the men working in the sheds from using one cup and dipping the same in the pail. In these stonesheds there are con-

Every person afflicted with tubercu-osis should be warned as to the care of their sputum. This should either e destroyed by strong antiseptics or fire. The promiscuous spitting upon sidewalks, cars and in public buildings should be prohibited by law. It is a well known fact that sputum which us dried upon walks and the floors of public buildings is again taken up by shoes and women's skirts. Again, I find that a great many peode make themselves unnecessarily weak and frail and more prone to disease by especially about the throat and the chest. The excessive use of clothing does not protect one from disease, but on the other hand makes them more sensitive to sudden changes in the weather. We should increase our power of endurance rather than weaken it, and killed with a blow on the back of The use of champis vests and the like should be discouraged.

Another way in Which many people make themselves weak and more liable to disease is the breathing of impure air. Abundance of pure fresh air is one of the best remedies we have in combatting the disease of which we are writing, but I find it a most difficult task in getting patients to provide them-selves with this free and wonderful rem-edy which nature has provided for our use. Everyone should get used to sleeping with their bedroom windows Senator La Foliette is a vegetarian, open, winter as well as summer. This direct irritant to the upper respiratory passages it produces other harmful reis the most pernicions. The too free use of alcohol also reduces the vitality and renders one less able to throw off

The neglect in earing for diseased noses and threats is probably one of the most overlooked portals of entry for such diseases as tuberculosis, plearisy, rheumatism and many others. The tonsillar tissue of the throat, because of its peculiar anatomic construction and six feet four and a half inches in its topographic relations is more liable height. Lieutenant Peck is a native to become inflicted by tuberculosis than perhaps any other part of the respiratory tract. Whenever there is any tendency to tonsilitis, be the attacks ever o slight, the tonsils ever so small, it is a serious mennee to the system and should be properly attended in. The same is true at odenoid growths, so fre-quently found in children.

There are many other interesting affair. They beat their fontoms and facts about this disease of which one pulled their hair and uttered their could write, but what I have written weird guitural cries. I have purposely made brief, but before closing I wish to bring one or two other subjects to your notice. That is the neglect so often paid to a slight sold. A large proportion of tubercular cases I have met with give a history of having taken a very mild cold with a slight hacking cough, for which they did little or nothing (at most taking a little pat ent cough syrup), thinking it would I surely could stand it no longer, the wear off. The cold seemed to get better savages formed in line and started to except the cough, which did not stop. A physician not being consulted until hey began to lose in weight and strength and have loss of appetite. "A stitch in time saves nine," is an old saying and it was never truer said than in the early diagnosis of tuberculosis. Many people have been led to believe that ong as their sputum.does-not show the presence of tubercul bacillas, that they cannot have the disease. This is a mistake, for there are a certain number of cases that do not have the germs in their sputum until the disease is very for advanced. Tuberculosis can be cured and the earlier it is attended to the strength to pray. better. Yours for health, G. W. Miller, M. D.
